as Not to Be an Incumbrance to Conkling - The Ontlook Favorable for Mr. Conkling's Opponents. No Caucus to Be Held.

WASHINGTON, May 25 .- There is a ru mor here to-night that Platt has decided not to be a candidate for re-election to the Senate in New York; that he found out his candidacy was a drawback to Conkling and has decided to relieve Conkling of that weight. This rumor is based on a private dispatch from Albany received late this afternoon.

New York, May 25.—A special from Albany to the Brooklyn Eagle says that the anti-Conglingites are not only holding their own, but are gaining. A dead-lock is inevitable, and the fight will be carried into the campaign next fall. Vice-Presi dent Arthur said to-day that the adminisillustrated by the coldness with tration contingent would give them some trouble, but in the end it would be beaten vet if you could get one of the stalwarts thanks for their labor, though no fault is to talk to you frankly, he would acknowledge that there will be no election at this time, and the whole affair must go to the Arthe Delawan House Conkling and his ussociates held levees, entertaining mostly, however, persons who were not members of the Legislature. All sorts of reports have been in circulation, some evidently set aftat as feelers and others entire fletion. Among them was one that the friends of Conkling say that if he is returned to the Senate he will shutain s returned to the Senate he will abstair is returned to the senate he will abstand from attacking the administration, and further, that if it is demanded in the in-terest of harmony Platt will withdraw as a candidate, and the administration ele-ment may name a Senator to take his place. It was also reported that President Garfield approved such an arrangement. Garfield approved such an arrangement, and urged his friends to accept the proposition. The proposition, however, it was added, was received with not a little disadded, was received with not a little dis-trust, and had no effect on those who are determined not to go into caucus. It seems to be settled that nothing will be said or done till Tuesday next, when the voting will commence. Everything indicates that there will be no caucus. Those engaged in the effort to secure the signatures of a majority of the Republican members to the call for a caucus, as was done last January, are not succeeding as well as then. Instead of getting nearly one hundred situatures as then, they are having very hard work to obtain fifty. MONT'S CASE.

The Trial of the London Socialist Editor

Commenced Yesterday.

LONDON, May 25.— Johann Most, publisher of the Socialist journal Freiheit, on the charge of inciting to murder, opened to day, Attorney General Henry James, Solicitor General Sir Farrer, Herschell and Poland, of the Treasury, appearing in and roland, of the fressury, appearing in behalf of the Crown, and A. M. Sullivan, member of Parliament, for the defense. Mr. James said there was not the slightest desire to check the free discussion in the press, on the contrary this prosecution was brought to preserve that freedom. The article published in the Freikcit, on which the indictment against the prisoner is found, must be, he said, regarded as a direct threat to the present Emperor of Russia of his fathers's fate. He referred to other articles as showing the animus Russis of his fathers's fate. He referred to other articles as showing the animus of Mcs'; among the papers found upon the prisoner was a memorandum that Trieste is a safe address for the storage of dynamite. The prosecution called merely formal evidence to prove the purchase of the Freiheit. Sullivan raised a number of technical objections relative to the jurisdiction of the courts.

technical objections relative to the jurisdiction of the courts.
Sulivan's argument that the persons whose murder Herr Most is charged with instigating were outside the protection of the British Court, was overruled by Lord Colorage, the presiding judge. Sulivan further argued that the statute against inciting to murder did not apply to the vogue of newspaper invective. He said if Most was guilty then the works of bhakespeare and Byron ought to be indicted for inciting to tyrannicide. Most was found guilty of the charge of inciting to murder. The sentence was deferred.
